

on BlogTV in an incident that attracted the attention of the vigilante. From an island in Manhattan, the bus was thrown back by snow into an area not very busy shopping. Elderly people who cannot normally use public transport have been particularly affected. The American television company CBS made a video filmed during a training flight in Alaska. First, the plane explodes, and then the fuselage begins to rise smoothly and slowly descends into the bowels of the earth. The video was posted on social media. In the frame, you can see how the elevator plane rises into the sky and slowly falls to the ground, leaving behind clouds of smoke. At the time of the explosion, which, fortunately, lasted no more than 20 seconds, there were more than 100 people in the cabin. None of them were hurt. The two-minute video shows the crew inside the aircraft approaching their seat and getting ready to take their seats. Then, with a slight pause, a warning is given on the radio that the fuselage lift on board the aircraft is in danger and that all passengers must take their seats in a safe position. According to statistics published in the press, in 1848 over 7,000 accidents occurred at railway stations within 30 seconds, in which hundreds of people died. Since then, nothing has changed, and even recently, trains regularly get into accidents, people continue to die and get injured. Many remember the train fire that happened in 1964. Then 10 people died. US design engineers have created a unique software circuit that helps a person control an unmanned aerial vehicle. The corresponding patent was received on November 17, 2011, but the creation of a flying assistant robot was officially announced only on November 22, writes Mashable. The wonder program, dubbed "DronaWatch", has a complex structure in which new layers are constantly being added, and is able to store and analyze a huge amount of data on the state of the drone. Now the developers want to apply the program to people. And not just like that, but on a commercial basis, of course. The first "autopilot" working with a person has been created. It's called "Drosophila" and it only needs two things to run: electricity and water. The device is designed to work like a home robot and do a lot with a person: from cleaning an apartment to helping with orientation in the area. At the same time, Drosophilla is much "smarter" than, for example, Virtuoso. Robot interacts with human
