Tip If you plan on editing images in Photoshop, your computer will need a minimum of 8GB of disk space. There are some applications that require a lot more space, but Photoshop does not. ## Adobe Illustrator Illustrator is Adobe's tool for creating vector images. These images have points of data in them that enable them to be manipulated and resized without losing quality. They can be displayed on any printer or monitor with no distortion. Illustrator also works with raster images. The two are best used in tandem because they create two completely different types of images. The raster images you create in Photoshop can be imported into Illustrator as images. These images can then be manipulated, edited, stretched, and placed on a graphic to make a vector image. Vector images are simply images that can be manipulated and cut without losing quality. These images can also be converted into raster images for printing. Illustrator is the program that creates the vector images that can be printed and manipulated. They can also be merged with Photoshop images.

"I started my own business," she said, "like the way you're doing. I started sending out brochures and business cards." Miss Lanzer met with Ford representatives in Tampa after she sold some cosmetics and covered "all costs but my advertising." She joined the Leesburg Plantation Economic Association (LPECA) in 1978 and served as the group's president for about a year and as vice-president for another year. Miss Lanzer still has her LPECA e-mail address and her photo is on the LPECA website. LPECA is still selling her cosmetics. "Whenever anyone needs supplies," she explained, "they just call me." Ford representatives told her they would come to inspect the business within a year and they visited a year later. "I hadn't changed my methods," she said. "I still use the same formulas." She said the Ford representatives told her they had not accepted her application to become an authorized Ford dealer until they met with her again. She said that when the representative saw how she had done her accounting, he asked her "how big her inventory was. "And I said,'sir, I don't have any inventory. Every time a sales call comes in, I just buy what I need." "He told me," she recalled, "`that's all right, we can work with that. You don't need an inventory to be an authorized Ford dealer.' So, I went back and told all my vendors," she said. "So," she said, "they gave me a better inventory in October," she said, "because they had seen me show them and they wanted to get with me." S100B is a secretory protein mainly located in neurons. It plays an important role in calcium homeostasis and cell proliferation. RAGE (Receptor for advanced glycation end products), is a single-pass transmembrane receptor with the sequence of Cys-X-Cys-X-Ser/Thr (SEQ ID NO:22). S100B binds to RAGE on the surface of cells, and regulates the expression of the RAGE gene. The RAGE gene is widely expressed. The expression levels of the RAGE gene are altered in the

Lamperts' Ice Time at Home Gives UF a Last Chance to Beat Iowa GAINESVILLE, Fla. — Going into Monday night's game at the O'Connell Center, Florida was poised to lose to Iowa for the third straight time. Only it didn't. A much-needed home win from the Gators gave them their 15th win of the season. The Gator coaching staff knew the game against the Hawkeyes could be a quick walk in the park. Instead, the Gators had to grind it out just like it was a regular season game. “Guys got into a groove. I think Iowa’s a good team, but we knew we were going to do our thing. The key for us was to win the game. I don’t know if it was a lesson we learned. You just can’t ever let yourself get comfortable,” Florida forward Will Yeguete said after the game. “We have to come out in the first half, and you want to have a lead. Last time we played Iowa, we didn’t have a lead, and it probably cost us the game. The challenge that we had tonight was you want to give yourself a chance to win, and so we went into the first half and gave ourselves the chance to win the game. It was good to win at home, and we need these wins.” It took the work and the team on display from the start of the game, yet still, it turned out to be a team victory. “We had a pretty good practice on Friday, but a lot of times when you get a chance to come off of a road trip, you know that you’re going to be able to get back in the groove and try to get going,” Florida coach Billy Donovan said. “Those guys were able to stay in the game, and so that allowed us to come in and just play our game and play well as we played.” Mississippi State won their first SEC game, their first road game in two weeks and won their first road win over a ranked opponent since 2004 when they beat Miami (Fla.) by a score of 80-71. “I thought tonight was a great example of how our team can come together as a team, when we didn’t play our best game. I thought we
