india Updated: Jun 02, 2019 10:56 IST A group of political parties on Wednesday opposed the opposition's demand for a joint nomination of candidates for the Lok Sabha polls, saying any such initiative would be illegal and will amount to a "conspiracy against democracy". At a meeting in Chandigarh convened by the Congress-led National People's Party (NPP), the parties backed the opposition's call for a united front for the May 23 general elections and said the party leaders should decide who to field as the candidates. "It was decided not to go for a joint nomination. This is against the fundamentals of democracy and would amount to a conspiracy against democracy," said former deputy prime minister and senior NPP leader, HS Phoolka. "No one should interfere in the internal issue of a party," he said. The opposition had walked out of the meeting held on the last day of the ongoing Lok Sabha session in a bid to press home its demand for a joint candidate list. The NPP claimed that some Congress-NCP and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leaders tried to influence the party's members to not take part in the meeting, but no discussion was held on the issue. "The joint meeting was convened only on a whim. The delay in the NPP to bring this matter to the notice of the Election Commission shows that the 'signalling' of the BJP-led government is working," said senior NPP leader and former union minister, Harsimrat Kaur Badal. During the joint meeting, the NPP members sought a candidate list of five to seven seats. The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) members said they wanted a list of as many as 21 seats. The AAP's Chandigarh unit president, Ashwani Kumar, said, "The Chief Minister's home constituency should be included in the list." The Congress wanted at least a joint candidate list for as many as 21 seats, including the Sujampur seat in which chief minister Amarinder Singh is fighting against BJP's Bikramjeet Singh Majithia. The AAP is in a three-way contest with Congress and the ruling Shiromani Akali Dal in the Amritsar Lok Sabha seat.
