Despite their name, skeletons are humans who fell into the ground during the Doomsday. Bones quickly decay, but when a skeleton is hit by a cannonball, he turns into a bloodthirsty zombie and falls down. This is exactly why the player has to work as fast as possible, avoiding attacks of skeletons and cannonballs. If you fail, you lose a life, fall and die in the ground. The more bones you have, the better options you have, but you cannot carry more than six, so collecting bones is also a smart choice, to not become a victim of the playing field and run out of money, too. How to play: Bonegard is played from an isometric, top-down perspective. The player can move around the field and swipe the screen to move. In order to shoot cannonballs, the player must press the space bar. When an enemy is hit by a cannonball, it will turn into a zombie. Zombies will chase after the player and attack. Since zombies are afraid of fire, they will try to avoid it, which makes them vulnerable. They can be killed by knocking them off the screen or breaking their bones. The better the player is, the more bones he can collect. If he has more than six bones he can withstand all damage and use the bones that are still open for an escape. Welcome to the most epic adventure of myths and legends! Use your magical sword to smash and crush wave after wave of enemies! ---------------------- Eat or Be Eaten! ---------------------- Eat 'em alive in endless hunger frenzy! Become a food devil as you pursue your target and devour huge amounts of enemies in one hungry go! Enemies will explode into the food, you just have to work hard and think fast! ===================== COCK-HEADED MONSTER ===================== Tame and train your cute and energetic COCK-HEADED monster for defeating the evil and save the planet! Collect plants to feed and pay your beast and it will evolve. ----- FREE RIDE ON SKELETON ----- Get up close and personal with the bone-possessed enemies to destroy them and become a deadly rider. Nobody can stop you or touch you, you're untouchable on a skeleton with a steel-plated skeleton! ========== TALENT YOUTH ========== Hone your magic power in a special

This game has been designed by people who enjoy playing games. The main aim is to design a game that is easy to learn, easy to play and fun at the same time, without any artificial challenges. These are the essential elements that make a great game. * We wish to communicate via the following method If you are satisfied with the game, please take the time to log your impressions and tell the developers what you think. Twitter Telegram Advertisement After the completion of our Kickstarter campaign, we decided to deliver a few more extra features, including the following: ✓ Added (Plus) ability to invite your friends to a Game. ✓ Added the possibility to import your Zero-K save file from Steam. ✓ Added the ability to connect to a Game via private server, and invite other players to this server. In this tutorial you will learn how to play the Zero-K game. Then you will learn how to join the matchmaking server and choose your commander, your unit and the color of your team. Plus how to drop on the battlefield with your team. You'll also learn how to play a battle, and how the special abilities of your units and commander work. This tutorial is for the following game modes: ❏ Tank Fight – Battle it out in a four-on-four environment with tanks. ❏ Tower Defense – Fight to protect your base from waves of enemies. ❏ Blackjack – With the help of your commander, deploy a castle to defend your base. ❏ Arena – Fight for survival in a 5v5 environment. ❏ Q&A – Fight against a friend. A matching game with a twist, with hints for your opponent. The difference between Battle & Tower Defense modes are: - Battle mode: Basic start location, no objectives. – Tower Defense mode: You start with an initial castle. You're tasked to defend the castle from waves of enemies. These mode will create new maps which will be released on the server later on. Also We've included a bonus tutorial where you can play in different battlefields, called Tacos. These areas are recreated from maps created by our community, and now you can find them on our server. We encourage you to play as much as you c9d1549cdd published:07 Oct 2013 views:114526 Loot Train is a game with 1000% more loot than anything else on iOS! It's a stylish mobile arcade experience traveling on a steam train from the Wild West, in search of the lost treasure of the legendary Ruby of the Sierra Madre. Your weapon: a 6-shot revolver whipping past at Mach 5. Enjoy classy pixel art, expertly crafted for a smooth animated gameplay experience. Run out of bullets? Draw them in real time with a flick of your finger and, once you have your red-hot six-shooters loaded, then prepare to blow those baddies away. Blast bullets, black powder and pay no attention to the dangerous wildlife! With over 10 mission to complete and over 20 unique characters to collect, level up your character and prepare for the challenges ahead. Loot Train is finally here! Get it on iPhone, iPad and iPod touch. Feeling Lucky? Test your skills playing for free on the iOS version of the game and compete with your friends or people around the world. Plus, get an extra life each time you visit the Lucky Wheel, and compete to score the most points! Loot Train officially released on August 4, 2015. Keep enjoying the game and don't hesitate to drop us any comments or questions! Thanks! ••• INSTAGRAM: FACEBOOK: TWITTER: • Mobi Service (Global) | • Mobi Service (Global) | On the Loot Train in search of the Golden Ticket! We have seen these monsters before. There is a theory making the rounds that we have entered the original version of Xenonauts, and this theory is not too far from being a fact. One of the additions made to Xenonauts in the early access phase was the loot train. Players could actually get transported to a loot train and get to pillage some of these monsters with the power of their guns. We use a controller and yes, we turn it around, and we also use our new camera. This is because in this build, we start getting glimpses at this new addition
