Tour De France 2022 Activation [2022]

TOUR DE FRANCE 2022 is the 32nd edition of the Tour de France, a spectacular cycling event. Hosted by the Tour's new broadcast partner Eurosport, the Tour de France returns to the streets of Paris on Sunday July 5th. With a route through the major cities of the country and with the famous Mont Ventoux as its key mountain, the event will take to the skies for the first time in recent memory, with a new and thrilling stage route. The Tour de France has been going for over 100 years, and has never been bettered in terms of excitement, drama and intrigue. About PEGI: PEGI is the international organization working with the retailers and consumers to raise the bar for children's games. Since its establishment in 1989 the PEGI system has successfully promoted high standards of what children should play and be allowed to play through labelling games with ratings such as Allergen Code, Approved, Young Site, Parental Guidance and Parental Code, as well as through implementation of voluntary self-regulatory codes and the development of a wide range of tools for ensuring children are exposed to appropriate, age-appropriate, education and training materials. PEGI bases its rating and mark schemes on the requirements of the World Health Organization and The Entertainment Software Rating Board. ## What's new in Tour De France 2022:

: 16 most realistic contenders to wear yellow jersey Alexander Vinokourov is in a dream situation right now. Russian cycling is enjoying its highest national popularity ever. There's even talk of opening a Russian national team. Spanish cycling is bitter, but is it going to change? As well as an important test for the UCI on management, the Tour has finished, the off season is on and life is looking good. But Alex, and other riders, such as Peter Sagan and multiple men's world time trial champion Cadel Evans, are going to be hungry to show the world their best. As well as clear favourites you have some dark horses and chasers. Dan Martin? Chris Froome? Chris Froome? An earthquake? Yes, the earthquake! 1. Igor Astarloa (Spa, Colombia, Movistar) Pre-season looks good and he's got the elbows. He tries to win everything and will eventually do. He's the best climber in the world and has won stage races. He's the best sprinter in the world and he'll do well in a bunch sprint. He also loves bananas. An endurance prodigy with a big future. 2. Peter Sagan (Svk, Slovakia, Tinkoff) 'Sagan is the beastly that wins the Tour', said Sky's Bradley Wiggins when he got his pants dirty chasing Sagan down the last, grubby climb of stage 1. Sagan was silent, passive and relentless yesterday. The modern Tour favourite. 3. David López (Spa, Colombia, Euskaltel-Euskadi) The first non-Spanish winner of the Vuelta took the victory in Paris, and repeated the feat in 2016, although that victory was tarnished by complications caused by his use of a banned corticosteroid. López is one of several neo-pros to beat the system by using natural products within the rules, and excel at the discipline he needs to succeed in today. Is López still the man to beat? 4. Julián Alaphilippe (Spa, France, Europcar) The 2017 L'Alpe d'Huez time trial was a chapter book cyclist's race, but Alaphilippe, in a break of all the breakaways, led it
