Klangkarussell-Sonnentanz-PROMO-CDR-FLAC-2013-WREQ: Security risks of using DateTime.now/unix_timestamp in a connection string I use PHP as a WebSocket layer for a client, and for the client to connect to the server to 'be relevant' I need to determine the system in use (in case it's running in production). One of the criteria for that is the current date and time. Using DateTime::now() and unix_timestamp() I can calculate that. $date = new DateTime(); $date->setTimezone(new DateTimeZone(date_default_timezone_get())); $now_unix = $date->unix_timestamp(); The question is, is there any security risk by using this in the connection string? A: PHP has a secure implementation of the DateTime class to ensure data is handled properly. If you keep unix_timestamp out of it, there's nothing wrong with it. Q: Firebug not showing response headers I recently started using Firebug to debug requests and responses of my ASP.NET MVC 2 application. When I do something like the following: var client = new WebClient(); client.DownloadString(@""); I can look at the response headers and see what it is. However, when I try the following, the response headers are not displayed: var client = new WebClient(); var request = new HttpRequestMessage(HttpMethod.Get, ""); request.Headers.Add("Accept", "text/html,application/xhtml+xml,application/xml;q=0.9,image/webp,*/*;q=0.8"); var resp = client.Send(request); I've also tried: request.Headers.Add("Accept", "text/html,application/xhtml+xml,application/xml;q=0.9,image/webp,*/*;q=0.8");
