“HyperMotion Technology was developed to take the known-motion capture possibilities of our players’ best-fitting suits and develop their movements into real-time animations that mirror their actions,” said Andrew Crooks, executive producer, FIFA.

“We’re seeing some of the most intuitive gameplay this generation. And we’re discovering that simulation in these suits is far from traditional that you see in other games.” What’s unique about this sport is the muscular control necessary to perform some of the moves. Players are fitter than ever, running faster than ever, and are now equipped with the right technology to give “realism” to their game play. To ensure this technology works seamlessly with FIFA’s game engine and physics, 100 percent of the moves were rated in a motion capture studio at EA Labels, where teams of scientists evaluate performance, build software algorithms, and fine tune animations that add true, natural movement to the game. Some of the key highlights of the gameplay include: “Instant On” Play One of the biggest features is in-game physics. Thanks to a signature “instant on” power-up known as Attacking Intelligence – or AI for short – together with new Real Player Motion Technology, players achieve increased height and power, with stunning combined speed and power. Players can now run with real agility, tackle and react to the ball in situations never before possible. Attacking Intelligence is a new attribute that allows players to pick through defenses by intercepting or dribbling the ball along the ground. It opens up new offense for players. Real Player Movement For players, you’re like a robot. One of the most exciting things you can do in FIFA 22 is drive the ball with your feet. With Real Player Movement, players have the individual locomotion control not available in previous versions, providing significantly more mobility than ever. In addition, the motions your players perform during a match are driven by your input. So in the case of ball control, if you touch the ball in the correct manner, your movement will correspond with your actions on the pitch. MLS Home Run Derby For the first time in a video game, each MLS Home Run Derby will be performed live on television in the ultimate US sporting spectacle. Home Run Derby mode makes baseball simulation complete with a live, compelling story mode. Your average Joe can jump on

Features Key:

- More ways to play. FIFA 22 introduces “HyperMotion Technology,” which uses motion capture data from real-life players to power gameplay, including ball and team intelligence, ball physics and ball control.
- More to discover. FIFA 22 brings new ways to get into the action, with “The Journey,” the World Tour, and integrated 7V7 gameplay all making their debut. Tune into “The Journey” at the start of the FIFA Ultimate Team Journey to team up with up to three friends to compete in Journey Tournaments in FIFA 14. Pause to watch a replay of each tournament action live streamed in cinemascapes.
- Star comebacks. Journey back to the mid 90’s with new makeovers, stars and fully-animated team celebrations at the start of the game, including new celebrations for Lionel Messi, David Beckham and Cristiano Ronaldo.
- Share more. Games can now be shared to Facebook, which could open up a whole new world to you. The FIFA Fan Page app allows you to enjoy the best of the largest global football fan engagement – the real-time match scores, social media reactions and animated games.
- FIFA Ultimate Team.
- Community-focused improvements. FIFA 22 introduces a number of new features to make FIFA Ultimate Team even better. The Guided Costumes feature makes it easy to choose your best-looking player suit from a wide selection of authentic club costumes. Players can now build up to 60 teams per account, and leaderboards and badges have been introduced to measure players’ success. Progress has also been improved, with the attribute tracker now supporting ultimate teams and players.
- Pitch-side video assistant. With new technology from ICC, you can now call on a pitch-side viewing assistant that gives you immediate assistance and answers your questions by displaying a virtual coach, in-match information and team chemistry analysis. Press the L2 or R2 triggers on PlayStation 4, Wii U and Xbox 360 to trigger the on-screen assistant.
