Silentium 2D is a rhythm game where you must match the levels with the musical notes produced by the game. The music is in the style of 80's video game music and the first game has a similar feel to Castlevania music, which makes the second game a very fun and nostalgic experience. This is a port of an old DOS game called Silentium 2D that I made a long time ago. After the fixed bug was implemented, I was sent a message on Steam (a matter of fact, over 150) regarding the game that stated "There's a bug in the game". This made me ask "What's the bug?". I'm not an expert, but I guess that in the introductory levels, the music is repeated, which causes the game to proceed in a loop, since the game ends when the last note is played. Oh, and also, this is a very quick and simple game, that requires little attention, so be gentle with the game, don't take it seriously. I hope you all enjoy this game and have fun! Challenge nr 1: Complete the following circuit in as few moves as possible: - you are starting in the right bottom corner, your goal is to get to the left top one. You can walk on the walls, there are no items in the game and there is only one key-panel, a single arrow and a lock. Challenge nr 2: Reach the 4th circle in under 2 minutes: Team ===== - Rory + - Sara + - Jen + + Requirements ===== - You must play Silentium 2D (the first one). - You must be logged in Steam (so I can check your ping). - Pick up the game, beat the game and tell me how many times you were able to get into a circle - You must send me your time by clicking the contact button above my avatar in the upper right corner of this page. Rules ===== * Don't send me a private message, please don't do this. I'm not ignoring you, I'm just a busy guy, I have a lot of people I need to support at the moment, I don't have time to support them. - I will let you know if your player is low or your ping are not high enough. So please make sure they are good. If your players are good or your ping

The big apple city is a cool place to be, but when you need to go to another side of it, it's even better! The Rush demo game will make you run all the way in a dark and dangerous corridor full of obstacles. A little jelly cube will have to race to a safe place where you can stay and start the game again! Controls: *Press Right to turn right or left *Press Left to turn left or right *Press Up to jump *Press Down to jump *Press Left or Right + Square to move forward *Press Triangle to fall *Tap the Space Bar to use the power *Ctrl to restart the level In this game, you can walk on walls, but beware of the obstacles on the right side of the corridor! The more jelly cubes you handle, the more points you get! Use your reflexes and timing and try to keep high scores and unlock the next levels and the power up. The game will get harder each time. IMPORTANT NOTE FOR THE INTENDENT PLAYERS: Rush! Rush! Rush! is intended to be played by people aged 8 and up. It is a small and concise game (around 20 minutes on average) that is simple to learn and play, it can be played and enjoyed by anyone at any age. #### What's new in Train Simulator: Peninsula Corridor: San Francisco - Gilroy Route Add-On:

recorded another five-figure week in its seventh week of release, coming in at #13 in Canada, #3 in Germany and #2 in Switzerland. The DVD earlier this week passed the two-million-purchase mark in Germany. Welcome to Selfpolis, the world's first self-made paracord musical drawing card that is officially licensed. Starting off as a stab at learning a new craft, this new method of "music" is both fun and daring! Originally created to promote Canadian industry by displaying the caliber of the microfiber cord that is found woven into the luxurious Australian Merino wool. Over time, it became a certified landscape artist, even a multi-million pound entrepreneur who is now bank rolling his own paracord.... So naturally, Selfpolis is now back on the musical drawing card - introducing 10 weeks of fun and even more paracord! On sale in Germany for $7.99 and available in the US for $8.19 on amazon.co.jp. It's highly unlikely a wide release will occur in the US but if it does it will be 1/4 price at $4.19. Kyle and I did a show about paracord at Stand-Up for a Cure and we did a paracord skit where we talked about why you make a $50 blanket out of paracord and a $300 blanket out of $50,000 worth of paracord. Bandcamp is down for the next few weeks. I did a live demo earlier this week, some of the things I said in the recording aren't really accurate to what was said live so there is a bit of jump in quality. Definitely worth a listen though, sound quality as always been great. I've downloaded the tracks from the two videos to my hard drive, which makes learning much easier (with the added advantage of letting you listen as loud as you want for the whole thing to say please turn down the noise). I already listen to them both but there might be a few nuggets in there I didn't pick up before. I just realized that I wrote parts of the Diver Down track on a National Day of Mourning long ago and the icebreakers section was on "If I Only Had A Phone" from Miami Vice. I'm either a really low key hipster or this is a really high key hipster. Maybe both? You can get it on iTunes I'm sure but Bandcamp works fine

This exciting adventure is a collection of new and updated content, some of which has not been released before in a 5e game. It includes: A new 5e ruleset complete with updated character creation, Race Options, General Rules and New Feats. Improved encounters by the renowned editor Sean "Greywolf" Griffiths. A new scenario and multiple areas for the player to explore. Several new magical plants, herbs, items and magic items for your players to use. Three new classes for your players to join. A new Feats system. An Exciting and Intriguing Location for all your players to explore. Diverse ruins for the DM to use, and a variety of new traps and monsters for the players to engage. The format of this adventure is designed to be modular allowing for both the first and second player characters to be used. To be able to play this adventure, you will need: An active Fantasy Grounds, or Better version of Fantasy Grounds. You will be prompted to buy the add-on, "The Apothecary of Icecrag Monastery", with the 5E Ruleset when you begin playing. Fantasy Games proudly presents: The Apothecary of Icecrag Monastery Available on Amazon For More information visit: Game Master's Guide Rules Please visit the following link for the complete rules: Playtesting Rules I am looking for any and all feedback that you feel is necessary. I will be offering all players 1-on-1 play testing sessions to help with any issues you may encounter. My time is limited but I would prefer to help. NOTES: My name is Trevor Armstrong. I am the Creative Director for Tantara Games LLC, along with my partner and fellow GM, Eric Mayson. I have been working on this project since 2012. While the core content is based on the original story written by Jon Thomas, I have been playing it and expanding on the story for well over a decade. It may be hard for you to see, but the concept for this adventure is rather a departure from my previous work as the original writer of the Bloodstorm Pass. I love the class story that surrounds the Icecrag Monastery,
