I want to use one color scheme for the whole project. It should apply to the raster layer and the vector layers. I already tried the Settings > Options > Preferences but there I can only select a specific layer. Is there any better way? A: I'm not sure if this is exactly what you're looking for, but I've written a plugin called Style Manager which allows you to create a custom color scheme for a single project, which you can use for whichever layers you like. That's one heck of a deal. The house dates back to 1901, but was redesigned in the modern style of the mid-20th century. (Just looking at the photos makes me feel like I'm in a Young Frankenstein movie, but then, $9.985 million is pretty close to the master's degree I'm still chasing.) The house also has a large, partially finished basement, a large backyard, a lot of storage and even a special guest suite. At the end of the listing, the seller says she's had this place for over a decade and has enjoyed renovating it. She's just ready to let it go. The asking price is just 3 percent higher than the median listing price in Northbrook, which was $12.977 million in March. But of course, it's pretty hard to find a house with a price tag like this for such a small suburb — and there aren't a whole lot of people who want to live in this house unless they can afford it. So the seller has attracted a lot of interest (we'd say an unhealthy amount of interest). I put in a call to the listing agent, and she
