tigergameassets.com/ A: I'm pretty sure Flight Simulator adds pressure. The areas where it tries to give you "more" pressure seem to be flight related: jumping planes, avoiding obstacles, weather and wind. Notice the weather is more a factor on the "flat" ground surfaces. A: Airplane Pilot Simulator Tuned inclinometer for cockpit! Realistic control setup (joystick and pedals - normally both are turned "off"). Excellent graphics for 930*1080 and even higher - enough to really feel the pressure. Flight time is limited by time you are flying your airplane and your fuel/cargo. More than one aircraft in one map. 10 planes (and more on the next updates) each with fully functional internal and external models. Fully detailed models of real airplanes and useful software to model your own aircraft. Customizable controls and settings. So, to sum up, it's an opportunity to pretend to be a real pilot. NBA Commissioner Adam Silver has adopted the Laker Daddy strategy, surrounding himself with children with the hazy, undefined qualities of "real estate." The sport needs more ballers and less grown men who don't play basketball. Silver - if you haven't guessed by now - is a grown man who doesn't play ball. "He's a great kid," Lakers owner Jeanie Buss once said of Silver, who when he was appointed NBA Commissioner in May, became the first person to hold the position who wasn't involved in the sport. "He's a bad boy." Silver - who in a recent interview revealed his father didn't play college ball at the University of Arizona - is the youngest commissioner in league history (since 1985 when David Stern was 56). (AP Photo/Chris Carlson). So he's full of wisdom, smart and accomplished, and not directly involved in the daily running of the league - just like real estate. Silver has publicly stated that he doesn't want his grown men in the Commissioner's office as he speaks with Commissioner Jay-Z about putting the technology he acquired in his music business onto a new technology platform the NBA uses called SportVU. The press-conference

Monster Garden isn't a particularly complex game, but don't let that lull you into a false sense of security. Beneath its friendly appearance lies a labyrinth of hidden rooms and surprises! The tension builds as you navigate through the maze and avoid obstacles while collecting the items your friend is requesting. The goal: help the monsters cross the gap and avoid the obstacles. - You need to operate a number of levers to control the flow of the river, which will allow your friends to cross the gap or stop them from going through. If the river gets too strong, the monsters will flow back into the pond and your friends will become stagnant. - The levels are randomly generated, so every play-through will be different! - The focus is on friendship, so you must be careful not to hurt your friends with your missteps. - The game has a soundtrack by Daisuke Kanou, who also created music for the popular Miitomo series. We want to provide a game experience that's different from other puzzle games, so we're still developing it with live production in mind. The game is in alpha right now, but it's constantly being updated with bug fixes and new features.
