How to Make a Home Alarm for $7.00 or Less: Part 2 Step 3: Optional – You can purchase a new battery for $7.00 or less. Place it in the base of the alarm box with the door closed and the alarm should work as long as the battery is fully charged. Step 4: Optional – Use a piece of carpet to cover the hole on the back and at the bottom of the box that leads to the contacts. It helps to prevent dirt and bugs from getting into the alarm and shortening its life. Step 5: Optional – Place a 2-4” piece of plastic or rubber over the contacts on the alarm box to protect them. Be sure to cover them in the same order as on the schematic so you don’t accidentally connect the wrong color wires to the correct wires when you are soldering. Step 6: Optional – Use an alligator clip to test the alarm box for continuity (a short circuit), open/closed sensor (a normally closed switch), and the contact switch (open/closed). Place alligator clips on the 4 wires on each side of the box and on one side of the battery. If the alarm box is working, you should hear the buzzer in this order: Closing sensor, contact switch, closed contact, closed contact, open sensor, open sensor, Contact switch. Step 7: Optional – If you don’t have access to a clear glass window for the alarm box to fit through, you can also use a 40” metal chain to permanently fix the alarm box to the window frame. (Use the same metal nail that you used to attach the alarm box to the wall.) Place the chain through holes in the back of the alarm box and fix it with the link of the chain. Optional – You can use the PVC water pipe insulation to fixate the alarm box to the wall, if you are not using a chain or wood bracket. First clean the pipe and clean the ends of the pipe with isopropyl alcohol. Cut a strip of the pipe insulation, about 4-6 inches long, then lay the strip over the hole in the alarm box and slide it down the hole a few inches until it comes out on the opposite side. You can use a hammer and nail to push it into the wall, or you can use
