
Alt-Rock EZX V1.0.0 (SOUNDBANK)

What is your best memory of the making of the Alt-Rock EZX It was a lot of fun, and it was very collaborative. We thought of it as a piece of art we could express with music. Everyone was really excited about the idea. Dave and I had this idea about how we could make a band out of the drum kit, and so a lot of our ideas were just to jam our drum kits into new territory. We always wanted to do a drum kit, it was just that one thing that we knew we wanted to do and we wanted to do it well. So we went into the studio and wrote and wrote and wrote. But we didn't have a producer to guide the whole thing, but we had a lot of good people to help get ideas together. What was your favourite kit that you were able to put together in the Alt-Rock EZX, and why The Gretsch kit, because we were able to play it out of tune and have the energy of a live band out of the kit. Because in that moment we could really own the drum set and play. We didn't have to listen to the producers. This is one of those things we were really passionate about and the whole kit came out and really worked. That was one of the most fun kits to play. It really came through. Can you tell me a bit about the concept of Alt-Rock EZX? It was a few things, Alt-Rock should always be about rock. There's no such thing as Alt-Rock. There are sub genres of rock. Because I'm a drummer, I wanted to explore the fact that rock drums are so basic. But when we add the other instruments, then it becomes so much more different. The rock drums that I play, I'm just trying to play the drums that I play on the basic rock songs. Because when I play those then you can change other things to make it different. So the alt-rock is about keeping the basic drums, and making sure that other musicians play the actual instruments that they play. The ultimate alt-rock band, we want to play without the traditional instruments. Because there's such a strong tradition of traditional instruments, no matter how good the drummer is. It's nice if it's a good drummer, but you need to have someone that actually plays drums in the band.
